Senior Product Designer specializing in complex enterprise and data-rich digital products. I translate complex workflows and product requirements into clear, intuitive experiences for large-scale platforms used by Fortune 500 companies. I work across the full design-to-delivery spectrum — from research and user flows to prototyping in Figma and shipping production UI through vibe coding tools and direct collaboration in GitHub. I work closely with product and engineering teams to take products from problem exploration through implementation, owning both the design and the final experience.

EXPERIENCE

PreScouter

Senior Product Designer

Apr 2024 — Present

Remote / Chicago, IL

- Lead product design for an enterprise research intelligence platform used by Aramco, Hitachi, Sony, and Emergent BioSolutions
- Designed and shipped AI-powered features including smart forms, AI chat features, and AI text polishing that significantly improved user engagement
- Own the full design-to-production pipeline — from Figma prototypes to shipping code via vibe coding tools and GitHub, eliminating handoff friction
- Established responsive design patterns across desktop and mobile, ensuring feature parity for on-the-go enterprise users
